Aim	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - To establish a connecting platform among student leaders in the ASEAN region - To empower youth leaders in the region to be the change agent in the society - To generate regional and global solutions for contemporary problems in the ASEAN region and the world from student perspectives.
Background	One of AUN objectives stated in its charter is to develop Human Resources in the ASEAN region. AUN flagship activities were designed to develop youth talents in ASEAN universities. We aim to increase students' capabilities in multi-areas including arts and culture, leadership, academia, societal development, etc. We believe that youth is not only the future of the society, they are also the present. With adequate support, youth are capable of creating impacts beyond national level. In 2013, AUN youth started to initiate cross-border connecting platforms among their peers. This was emphasized again in the AUN ASEAN Student Leader Forum (ASLF) both in Brunei Darussalam (2014) and Chiang Mai, Thailand (2020). We are holding this event to push students' dreams to another step closer to reality. In this uncertain period, the vision for the future could be unclear for many international organisations. The power of youth ideas is more important than ever as they contain less constraint from the old-normal world. Shaping strategies to tackle contemporary problems must rely heavily on the new generations.
